FROM OUR BOSTON CORRESPONDENT.

Artillery Company of Massachusetts, now two hundred and twenty-one years of age. It is an association of past and active militio officers, who choose officers annually, and go through with a variety of ancient ceremonies, the best of which is the emptying of a huge old punch-bow at the dinner in Faneuil Hall. The "little iron man" looked bellicose, indeed, in a uniform glittering with embroidery, and his aids had the singularly bad taste to appear in red coats, by way of expressing their superiority to the of politics of sword and musket-bearers, and in the hope of obtaining a notoriety which might not otherwise obtain. The governor's after-dinner speech was characteristic. He kissed the blarney stone of Plymouth, and went through the usual rocking of the cradile of liberty. The display of dignitaries at the banquet was small, but the time was fully occupied in reading a prosy correspondence with Prince Albert, redoent of the whole territory pertaining to the American Union, is but reading from the journal of the past, and which amply and eloquently indicates the record of the future." And old Faneuil Hall rang with applause before he could proceed.

guidance of "the pilot that weathered the storm," business is improving, and the panic will be classed with Kanaa, the Ulah war, and other national troubles successfully terminated by the wisdom of Mr. Buchanan. True, our "solid men" groan over the loss of their exorbituat rates of interest, but they are gradually beginning to let their money at reasonable rates, such as merchants and mechanics can afford to pay.

Our shoe-trade, with its accompaniments, amounted last year (according to the report of the Boston Board of Trade) to sixty-one millions of dollars. This has been the great business of the republicans, who thus control a large number—say 80,000 mechanics—scattered, over the Paor. O. J. Wood: Whit confidence do I recommend your Hair Restorative, as being the most efficacious article I ever saw. Since using your Hair Restorative my hair and whiskers, which were almost white, have gradually grown dark, and I now feel confident that a few more applications will restore them to their natural color. It also has relieved me of all dandraft and unpleasant tiching, so common among persons who perspire freely.

Prov. Wood: About two years ago my hair commenced falling of and turning gray; I was fast becoming bald, and had tried many remedies to no effect. I commenced using your restorative in January last. A few applications fastened my hair firmly. It began to fill up, grow out, and jurned back to its former color, (black.) At this time it is fully restored to its original color, health, and appearance, and I cheerfully recommend its use to all.

We have received from a highly-intelligent and thoroughly-informed writer the following letter. The opinions of the writer command great weight among those and mules got together in so short a time before.

I suppose that you have received all the Utah news long ere this. How will it affect the powers that be? I take it for granted that the Mormons are on the wing, and that another he-gira has commenced. The Sonora movement has commenced, as I predicted it would over said over again six months ago. The plans of the Mormons are these: The great body of the people, with their leaders, are now moving towards the southern extremity of the Territory, thereby placing themselves at least 100 miles farther from our base of operations, and rendering it almost, if not entirely, impossible to strike them this year, if we feel so disposed.

Some of the Mormons will remain behind to occupy the buildings, &c., in Salt Lake City and other points, and hire them at good prices to the government. Under these circumstances, it is a matter of great importance to decide upon the course the government should pursue towards them.

My olum would be to leave about 2 000 trees in Utah.

My plan would be to leave about 2,000 troops in Utah My plan would be to leave about 2,000 troops in Utah at present, push forward the supplies now on the road, which would give them two years' provisions, and prevent the enormous expense of throwing forward subsistence next spring, and withdraw the rest of the army. Since the Mormons have started south. 2,000 men can control them. The next move, if our troops approach them, will be across the line into Mexico. I look upon this step of Brigham as his first serious error; for no northern people ever moved South without detriment. A constant struggle for the necessaries of life is necessary to keep the Mormons together, and a northern country to keep the Mormons together, and a northern country is just the place for a man to work hard and starve. If all the troops now under orders for Utah go there, next year a vast amount of supplies will have to be sent out, and the expense will run into the millions.

Will not the Utah movement by that time be unpopular? and will not the expense damage Mr. Buchanan's administration? With an unscrupulous opposition, ready to seize upon every occasion to attack the administration, it is certain that the Utah expenses will be held up to the country, and commented upon and distorted so as to seriously injure the government; for you well know that extravagance is a popular cry with demagogues, and is very effective, particularly with those who have not a dollar to lose.

We hear nothing here of Kansas affairs. I presume we
